

Young Workers Committee

January to October 2025

Submitted by: Alexander Decarie, Jacqueline Lee (Co-Chairs)

Overview

2025 is a difficult year. Two elections, cuts and the many struggles all members are facing have taken a toll. Our committee focused on trying to create fewer events but making them higher in quality to offset this challenge for ourselves. In the fall to winter, we plan on delivering more events focused on connecting young workers and supporting them through the cuts. We are also working to connect with other committees and allies in our region to make the largest impact we can for our members. We will hopefully have details to provide soon.

The remainder of 2025 has made it clear what our energy is going to be spent on, and that has provided renewed clarity and drive. Young people have been deeply impacted by stop-the-clock measures, term cuts and now WFA. It is time that PSAC needs to protect the generation entering the workforce and ensure that the door does not close to the next generation to come.

Events

How do I get Involved in My Union? 2025-06-10

Online event for educating members about the various paths and roles commonly held in the union. The goal of the event was to inspire interest and connect members with experienced union leaders. We had leaders in our region speak about roles including stewards, local officers, committee roles and regional roles. No cost incurred to budget.

Budget Update
